T3. Ricochet!

In a firefight, it's important to know where blaster shots are coming from – whether it's from your opponent or a ricochet bouncing off of a surface. Trace the paths of blaster bolts in this combat simulation grid between battle droids to help find your next target. Connect the dots described by each laser blast, as it bounces around the grid. Then look at the letters in the grid that were hit in a double-cross – by at least two beams!

T4. Crack the Code!

A mysterious figure has hired you and several other hunters to the forest planet of Paklan to track down someone who has been disrupting some "business" dealings. They didn't want to risk naming the bounty in a message, so they left a question in code for you. Fill in the letters matching the numbers to get a question. The answer to that question is your target – good luck!
